WELCOME Bienvenidos

My Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Greetings to all of you! I'm glad you are with us to worship our Lord Jesus Christ. This week, Mark's Gospel challenges us to think about how we are living God's commandments. As Jesus tells the rich young man that reported he had observed them since his youth, we are also asked to do more. Our faith calls us to share our wealth, our talent, and our time with others. I encourage you to ask yourself, what is holding you back from following Jesus as He calls us to do?

¡Los saludo a todos ustedes! Estoy contento que estan con nosotros para adorar nuestro señor a Jesucristo. Esta semana, el evangelio de san Marcos nos invita a pensar cómo estamos viviendo los mandamientos de Dios. El hombre rico le dijo a Jesús que siempre había observado los mandamientos desde su juventud, mas sin embargo Jesus le dijo que todabia le falta algo mas. Asi tambien a nosotros Jesus nos puede perder que haganos más. Nuestra fe nos debe impulsar a compartir nuestra riqueza, nuestro talento, y nuestro tiempo con nuestros projimos Los invito a preguntarnos si hay algo que nos impida seguir a Jesus como el nos esta llamado a seguirlo.

May God Bless you all,
 Fr. Juan Manuel

Jesus and His Ways of Living
Lessons from the Lucan Gospel

Feast of St. Luke, physician and evangelist | October 18

Each Gospel has unique qualities and significance. St. Luke's created an intimate portrait of Jesus' life with his fluid and poetic writing. It is the gospel of the Holy Spirit. We learn how Jesus always first summoned the Holy Spirit to fuel His ministry and miracles. We see clearly as we travel along with Jesus that He is concerned for social justice for all people — and He has a preferential care for the poor. Jesus also talks in a personal way with the People of God: "Blessed are you who are poor, for yours is the kingdom of God. (Lk 6:20)

St. Luke includes three songs used in our church liturgy. In Mary's Magnificat (Lk 1:46-55), she too proclaims human equality when it comes to what is right and just: God "brought down rulers from their thrones, but lifted up the humble. He filled the hungry with good things, but has sent the rich away empty."

Luke, in his role as the beloved physician, also illustrates Jesus' belief in the healing power of compassion and forgiveness by sharing His parables of the Prodigal Son, welcomed home by his father —and the forgiven woman, who disrupts the feast to wash Jesus' feet with her tears. There is love and redemption waiting for all of us.

By His example, Jesus teaches us His way of living. Below are three lessons for all of us to take away:

Be generous with others. Jesus repeatedly shows his generous nature by feeding the people, especially the poor. Why food? Because good food nourishes us. It comforts. It gives us strength and energy — and when shared with others, it creates community.

Welcome people. Jesus brought people together, often to share a meal or in some social setting. He encouraged his disciples to welcome strangers. When we greet one another at the beginning of Mass or during the Peace, remember that your friendliness toward someone may be the only connection or touch that they receive.

Love your enemies. Jesus was kind to the ungrateful and the wicked. He asked us this question: "If you do good to those who are good to you, what credit is that to you? He commands that we love our enemies with the promise of great reward." (Lk 6: 27-36)

St. Bridgid of Ireland's prayer gives us a vivid preview of her hopes for the "great reward"...

I would like an abundance of peace.
I would like full vessels of charity and rich treasures of mercy.
I would like Jesus to be present...
I would like a great lake of beer for the King of Kings.
I would like to be watching Heaven's family drinking it through all eternity.

Peace,
Fr. Charlie
